My family certainly has ears.

It seems to be chock full of a proclivity toward music and art, two of the best being my cousins Danny and Robbie Block.

I've been slinging vinyl and CDs at my store Euclid Records for over 35 years in St Louis (Gateway to the West), and all that time I've been wishing, hoping and praying that one day I'd be able to throw a Rob and Dan collaboration on the ol' CD player and turn my costumers onto my two cousins.

Well if you wish, hope and pray hard enough that stuff can actually come true and here it is, the very first Block Brothers extravaganza!

This recording is testament to the years and dedication to this art of Jazz, their journeys like so many others having been tough but fulfilling.

I don't happen to play an instrument, but we all have something in common. There's a real passion for what we do.

They make the music, I sell it and my friends that is indeed a very special thing. I speak for my whole family when I say I admire and respect my illustrious cousins and after hearing this CD, I know you will too.
